Hot Debate Carried On Lateral Contract

A special meeting of the village board, with two trustees absent, Ernest Glenn and Robert Williams, awarded the sewer and water lateral contract for Antioch Water and Sewer Project to Kennedy Construction Company of Deerfield in the amount of $234,953.

The meeting, which took place at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, April 13, was attended by contractors, newspaper reporters and a scattering of village residents.

Members present at the meeting along with President Murrill Cunningham were Trustees Vos, Nissen, Toff and Holbek. Also in attendance was Police Chief Walter Scott, Fire Chief Edgar Simonsen, Village Clerk Clarence Shultz, Village Attorney Edward Jacobs and Village Engineer Dave Miller.

President Cunningham opened the meeting with preliminary duties and then proceeded in discussion to disqualify the lowest bidder on the contract, Central States, by stating that the company's experience, bonding power and references were deficient.

Challenging the board on this decision was Maurice Weissmann, attorney for Central States, who stated that the board was not acting in the interest of the public as regards to the engineering specifications. The specifications state that a performance bond, Weissmann maintaining that that was the sole factor of Central States' rejection, was not necessary until after the contract had been awarded.

He went on to say that the board had no right to reject Central States' on arbitrary grounds. Trustees Nissen and Toff, along with Engineer Dave Miller, stated that they had investigated all facets of the matter and found that Central States lacked experience as a new company, had weak references and no bonding power to speak of. Trustee Nissen stated bluntly to Weissmann that on those grounds "I don't think we want you."

Cunningham stressed the fact that the advertising of the bids stated the contract would go to the lowest and best bidder and that Central States was not the best bidder, in his opinion. Weissmann debated the board with "we may be obliged to test in court your right to exercise arbitrary measures." He again stressed the fact that the board was "dealing with public funds."

Cunningham, who had moved several times to continue with the meeting and award the contract to Kennedy, reiterated his statement of the board's findings after their "thorough investigation of Central States." With this, Weissmann stood up and produced a typewritten document, stating that: "We might as well lay our cards out on the table. We were obliged to make an agreement with Mr. Rheims (M. Rheims' construction company) in order to bid for this job. We were advised by certain parties that unless he participated we would not get the contract."

Ellen Reilly Dies at 102 Years of Age

Rev. Father Joseph E. Savage, of Antioch, was stunned over the recent death of Mrs. Ellen Reilly (nee Nally), who, for over 35 years, had been in his domestic service.

Father Savage reported that Mrs. Reilly, who died at the remarkable age of 102, was the first white child born in Sibley County which now takes in the cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Her parents were pioneers who had come from Ireland to settle in America. Mrs. Reilly was born the year the Civil War began—1860.

After being raised in Minnesota, Mrs. Reilly married and moved to Billings, Montana with her husband who was a rancher. Slightly before the turn of the century she managed a hotel there, when the then world famous Mother Cabrini (now a canonized saint in the Catholic Church) visited there. Mrs. Reilly made accommodations for her at the hotel through a two-week period of time.

Mrs. Reilly moved with her husband, Alexander, back to Chicago and then to Wadsworth where she had intended to stay for only two weeks. Instead she stayed with Father Savage doing domestic service for over 35 years.

Preceding her in death were her husband Alexander and son, Ellsworth.

Surviving are her granddaughters Mary Louise Schum, Jane Slattery and Eileen Siemens. She was a great-grandmother of 19.

Funeral services were held last Thursday, 9:30 a.m. from O'Donnell Funeral Home in Chicago to St. Barnabas Church.

Interment was at the Holy Sepulchre.

Father Savage, who said a Mass for Mrs. Reilly, stated that it was the "hardest act of my life."

He added that "today we close more than a century of life. As she (Mrs. Reilly) once opened her doors to Mother Cabrini, may Mother Cabrini now open the gates of Heaven to her."

Heath told deputies he did not see the Noxon car coming north on 173.

Mrs. Noxon stated she was going north, saw Heath backing out of the driveway, honked her horn and tried to swerve left but she was still struck by Heath.

Along with Heath in the car was his 25-year old brother Paul who was instructing him, and Jim Hendrick, all of Antioch.

Mrs. Noxon's car was damaged in the right front and Heath in the rear.

Illinois Treas. Lorenz Runs for Re-Election

Francis S. Lorenz, State Treasurer of Illinois by appointment of Governor Kerner in August, 1961 is the Democratic candidate for election to succeed himself in a full four-year term.

Francis S. Lorenz, State Treasurer

Throughout a long career in public life, Lorenz has established a reputation for handling huge sums of public moneys at large savings to the taxpayers.

Lorenz was born in Chicago on September 4, 1914. He was educated in public schools and the DePaul University College of Law, which graduated him with a Bachelor of Laws degree in 1938.

He practiced privately until 1943, when he was appointed an assistant corporation counsel. In this position he directed acquisition of eight miles of right-of-way for the Calumet Skyway Toll Bridge in a record 16 months, saving $1½ million below the estimates of engineers.

He was co-counsel in defense of $20 million of claims arising from construction of the Chicago subways. The claims were settled for less than one million.

He directed the assembly of 6,000 acres of land for O'Hare International Airport, a series of purchases completed at a cost of more than $10 million without a breath of scandal.

In 1956, Lorenz was elected Clerk of the Superior Court of Cook County. Two years later, he was elected Treasurer of Cook County. In these two administrative positions, he completely reorganized and streamlined the offices, earning a reputation for economy and improved public service in both.

During his first six months as State Treasurer, he increased the earnings of state funds by $650,000 by transferring bank deposits from 30-day accounts to 90-day accounts at 2½ times the rate of interest.

Lorenz believes the financial situation of the state government is the key issue to be resolved by the voters. He supports Gov. Kerner's program for a revision of the revenue article of the Illinois Constitution.

He and his wife, the former Teresa M. Wendell, have four children, Frank, 20; Patricia, 18; Virginia, 15; and Charles, 11.

McClory and Dirksen Confer in Washington

State Senator Robert McClory, successful Republican nominee to Congress in the primary election Tuesday has been called to Washington for a briefing conference with Senator Everett M. Dirksen. The meeting held Monday in the offices of Senator Dirksen was attended also by Donald Rumsfeld of Glenview, Republican nominee to Congress from the 13th District, Frank Reid, Jr., of Aurora, Republican nominee from the 15th District and several other Republican candidates who are expected to serve in the next Congress.

The Washington conference began with a breakfast which was served in Senator Dirksen's office followed later by a luncheon given by the Illinois Federation of Women's Republican Clubs. Subjects discussed included the November campaign as well as Republican policy and strategy aimed at electing a Republican majority to the Congress in the November General Election.

Senator McClory had this to say about his Washington conference: "The trip to Washington has come a little sooner than expected, but I am pleased to have the opportunity to meet with the other members of Congress and the nominees with whom I expect to serve in the next Congress and to share views on the plans for electing a Republican majority to serve at the next session."

Voters Elect Board Members

Antioch Township voters turned out in good proportions last Saturday to elect office-seeking citizens to the school boards in the area.

Weight Fraud Is Uncovered

Instances of short weight sales of pre-packaged meats have been uncovered by the Illinois Agriculture Department's Division of Standards.

The short weight sales involve seven different chain store operations and were discovered by division inspectors. In most cases the short weight was due to the fact that the containers or packages were included in the total weight stamped on the packages.

The offending chain stores were warned, and any future violations will result in court action. There will be no more warnings, said Hubert L. Go-forth, superintendent of standards.

The Division of Standards is the state's watchdog which protects the public from those who would seek to make a profit by shortchanging customers in terms of untrue weights and measures.

Area Fires Break Out

A rash of grass fires has broken out in the Antioch area over the past week reported Fire Dept. Chief for the day, Cliff White.

Reported was a grass fire at Grass Lake Rd. and Broadway. Two jeeps, one tanker and 13 men attended the fire which took about a half hour to quell. The fire, happening Wednesday, April 11, took place at 9:35 a.m.

Survey Slated For Hospital

The Countryside Hospital Association members recently reported that their project is in a marking-time stage which is currently awaiting receipt of further documentation from Dr. Charles U. LeTourneau, its professional hospital consultant.

On April 14, another grass fire took place on North Avenue at 3:30 p.m. Both jeeps were sent to the scene along with 15 men. The fire was put out in 20 minutes.

A grass fire also broke out last Monday. A large grass fire was set Tuesday afternoon for the instruction of the high school students. It took the department more than 45 minutes to put it out on Orchard and Hillside.

The one-day Fire Chief White stated that if persons would be more careful when building fires and putting them out and restrained themselves from dumping cigarettes from moving autos, a good deal of these fires would not happen.

Also in the fire report was a burning car which caught flame. Two trucks attended the burning car of Alfred Gerde for about a half hour Tuesday, April 10. The fire took place at 11:50 a.m.

EDITORIAL

AN ACT OF CIVIC PROGRESS

This week a group of duly elected students from the high school took over all of the public offices of the village for one day. With the help, consideration and cooperation of the entire village officialdom, the event was a great success.

We would like to commend those students who so actively showed an interest in our civic government.

Commendations also go to our public officials for their tolerant and understanding attitude in teaching these youths of our community the exacting details of their responsibilities.

The entire day was spent by thorough examination of each job the students had been elected to. The entire group was briefed by the Mayor, M. Cunningham, and then split off into the respective jobs.

Since this is the first attempt of the school to program such an event, we can consider the effort well made.

Such acts of civic interest fostered by our public officials reflect an attitude of pride in the community's youth and a belief in their performance of duties and future responsibilities.

Such acts can not be encouraged enough, we feel. No one, especially those totally unschooled and inexperienced in the ways of a working municipal, state or federal government ever derives enough knowledge of these functions.

It is just this type of cooperation between schools and governments that fosters a bond between adult and teenager and helps to form a union of understanding. Perhaps if this system were practiced more frequently and on a wider plane misunderstandings, disagreements, and even crime itself would be considerably reduced.

As it is, we see it as a step in the right direction toward achieving the common good for all.

Chinese Physicians
The health of Red China's 600 million people is in the hands of "perhaps the most undertrained, medievally oriented, and politically infected medical profession in the world." That is the view of Arturo F. Gonzales, Jr., of The Asia Magazine, which is published in Hong Kong.

Writing in Today's Health, he says that Western-trained physicians, the cream of the country's medical profession, were summarily ordered, in 1953, to revert to traditional Chinese methods of treating patients. These methods include lancing the skin, muscle, or other tissue with a long silver needle, the use of herbs which are supposed to cure everything from appendicitis to fractures, breath control, and shadow boxing.

During April which is Chemical Progress Month, Illinois chemical companies are highlighting the wide variety of chemicals produced in this state, all of which are vital to the home and industry.

PARIS: THE DYING EMBER

By Jay Nash

Comes the spring and Americans start thinking of places to go—vacations in other states or in another country. In vogue at present is Paris, France, resurrected to popularity through travel brochures, publications, television—it is the place to spend a summer month. The travelers, those talking obviously in public, have either recently returned or are going to Paris.

History, charm, elegance, cuisine, nobility, are some of the more widely-used terms appearing on wagon-lit travel posters. You know the ones. The Eiffel Tower in the background with two persons slipping wines through bee-stung lips in the foreground or a sunlit Champs du Champs stretching toward the widening mouth of the Arch du Triomphe.

Publications such as Esquire, Show, Show Business Illustrated and others boom Paris as the meeting place of those in search of the "higher things in life."

For a group of non-tourist travelers there is the other appeal—the intellectual stimulation provided by the grandeur of well-publicized "great minds." Francois Sagon is in Paris. Mauriac, James Jones, author of From Here to Eternity, Irwin Shaw, who wrote The Young Lions and several others are in Paris. They all sit around little tables in straw wicker chairs at a cafe called Le Dome and let passersby stare at them. And Art Buchwald, a fallstaffian scribe of mediocre talents, sits with them and writes down their every utterance for the Chicago Sun Times.

And so the tourists flock to Paris in droves by the sea and air, filling up the city of lights with large cars, huge tips which all tends to leave the French with an expression of contempt for American wealth.

However, these things do not dominate the whole of the city. Well over eight million Frenchmen live in Paris, the majority dwelling on the left bank. Most of them work in office buildings, factories, hotels and shops located across the Seine on the right bank. Their homes and apartments are situated in the cluttered quarters of the left bank. All of the city's culture, with the exception of some architectural masterpieces out of Napoleon's time—the opera building, the Tuilleries (Napoleon's one-time palace) and governmental offices seemed to have been tossed into a maze of smart hotels such as Georges V, the Ritz, and the Grillon which thrive off of the American dollar.

The left bank, on the other hand, is a wealth of culture—the Bibliotheque Nationale, (the largest public library in the world housing the original works of the masters), the Louvre, where one can view The Winged Victory, Mona Lisa and The Last Supper, the Ecole Militaire where France's greatest generals were trained and one of the largest universities in the world—the Sorbonne which usually capacitates close to 65,000 students year round.

Those living off of the Parisienne economy and not wishing to appear as The Ugly American, usually reside in the crooked cornered sections of St. Germain des Pres, St. Michel or even in Pertenye where the poor and low-paid factory workers live. Staying away from such sections as the Latin Quarter and Montparnasse with their byways over-run with American tourists looking for artists with beards similar to that of one searching out the freak show at a carnival. For those Americans who work year round in Paris it is not a travel-poster city but a very real town to live in.

For those who go to Paris to find the city "they've heard so much about," life in that city is diffused into sitting under those curious striped awnings on top of a hill called Montmartre where they can view the whole of the city at night or strolling through the folies and bistros section and never seeing the red meat hung up in the windows of the little butcher shops across

Your Summer Reports

By O. O. KERNER

With the advent of warmer days and bright sunshine heralding the coming of spring and summer, Illinois families are beginning to plan their annual vacations.

In 1961, Illinois parks and memorials attracted almost 12 million visitors. A large number of them were from other states and we know from their letters they enjoyed their trip to Illinois and were impressed with what they saw. The state of Illinois holds a fascination to many citizens of other states, because the Prairie State has great natural beauty and scores of historical shrines.

I would like to urge Illinois citizens to give serious thought to traveling this year in their own state. Those families who are not privileged to have more than a few days at a time for vacation should give every consideration to enjoying a series of weekend trips to see and enjoy the parks, streams and camping facilities that can be found almost at their doorstep.

To those who have more time, an extensive motor trip through Illinois will be rewarding and educational.

Last year more than 800,000 persons enjoyed the beauties and wonders of Starved Rock State Park, Lincoln's New Salem attracted more than 775,000, and Illinois Beach State Park was visited by more than 600,000.

No citizen of Illinois resides more than an hour away from a beautiful park, a river or lake for boating or fishing. I am certain there are thousands of our citizens residing in Northern Illinois who have not seen or visited Grant City State Park in Southern Illinois. And certainly thousands in Southern Illinois have not had the pleasure of seeing Starved Rock or visited the many museums and sights in Chicago.

A family really interested in the state in which they live would spend a most enjoyable two or three weeks traveling about Illinois. It would not only be an enjoyable trip, it would be a rich historical experience for the children.

Illinois Information Service, State Capitol, Springfield, has brochures and pamphlets describing all there is to see and do in Illinois. A card or letter asking for some of the material will be promptly answered. Why not spend your vacation this year in your home state?

that the man lives only because of his works—"May Day," "The Great Gatsby," "This Side of Paradise," and "The Last Tycoon."

"Beauty is truth, and truth beauty, that is all ye need to know on earth," might well have been his pennoned words. The man and his work are inseparable.

So go to see Jennifer Jones and Jason Robards play in the abortive version of "Tender Is the Night" or watch Gregory Peck waltz through "Beloved Infidel" and smile condescendingly—you will never attain the heights he did, never bestir the city with Olympian view (in the Newman sense) as this image did.

That's the way it goes. Time was when it seemed that every other foreigner was galivanting over to the United States to write a first hand account of the new country. This was about 1830. Among the travelers was Frances Trollope (wife of the English novelist, Anthony Trollope), who saw mostly the seedier side of American life. She was mostly dismayed by the Americans' uncouth habit of hawking (i.e. spitting) in the street. In spite of her misguided tour, her book, "The Domestic Manners of the Americans," makes for interesting anecdotal reading.

The inimitable Charles Dickens also took time out from his writing chibres to breeze through the United States. He seemed most interested in prisons, reform institutions, and the condition thereof. Needless to say (so why say it?), he found the American penal system inadequate. At the same time one Francis J. Grund authored an "Aristocracy in America."

His contention was that a real aristocracy existed in the U. S., being comprised of the rich land-owning classes. His work chronicles this "upper set."

The man who carried the sport of "American watching" to its peak, however, was the erudite Frenchman, Alexis de Tocqueville.

De Tocqueville's two volumes on "Democracy in America"—with the possible exception of Bryce's "American Commonwealth"—remain the most penetrating examination of American mores compiled by any foreigner (or almost any American for that matter).

Author also of the "Ancient Regime" and the "French Revolution," de Tocqueville was a good friend of Gobineau. Now you remember Gobineau—he wrote the essay called "An Essay on the Inequality of Human Races." That's the book that started all that racial superiority stuff which eventually led to Nietzsche, Nazism, and all the rest.

Few people have ever read "Democracy in America," but most everyone talks about it. Therefore, it must be a classic. Wasn't it Gibbon who said that—"A classic is a book everyone talks about but nobody reads?" Both conservatives and liberals today hail de Tocqueville as a member of their camp. It seems likely, however, that de Tocqueville would best be considered as a liberal conservative of the 19th century—i.e. a proponent of representative monarchy.

One could hardly be said to be even slightly "aware" politically if he has not read "Democracy in America." Certainly anyone who has not read it cannot expect to comment more intelligently upon the American scene. I may even read it myself some day.

Courthouse Notebook

By YOU BURN

Well, it looks like State Sen. Robert McClory has given the boys in Lake County another lesson in this game of politics and his cohorts in McHenry County and Boone County are no doubt enjoying a hearty laugh at the discomfiture of the "big" county boys.

The big surprise of the recent Congressional race was the almost insulting vote polled in Boone and McHenry by State Rep. Robert Coulson who out-polled the victor in Lake County and barely escaped with his life in the other area.

It is ironic that Lake County couldn't elect its choice for Congress when it was the tail of the dog and now when it is the dominant part of the district still finds itself accepting the choice of the rest of the district.

The vote rolled up by the seven losers in the Congressional race must be construed as an anti-McClory vote, which hardly gives him a mandate to carry to Washington, but his victory was a tribute to his hard, unrelenting campaigning and a personal triumph.

Sen. McClory's first term in Washington will no doubt be an uneasy one since he can hardly refrain from looking over his shoulder to see who is being groomed to go against him in 1964.

And the ink hardly dry on the election canvass sheets, The Republican high command had better proceed rapidly with the development of a screening committee or some system to limit the number of candidates for McClory's seat in the state senate, or McHenry County will grab off that spot also.

The pessimistic can envision A. B. McConnell, veteran state legislator from Woodstock, throwing his hat into the ring and emerging triumphant over a plethora of candidates from Lake County.

Coroner Robert (Mick) Babcox is a definite candidate for the senate seat and his optimism lends credence to earlier rumors that his withdrawal from the sheriff's race was based on a promise of support in his bid for the legislature.

This would, of course, set off another game of political chairs, but at least a successful campaign would eliminate Babcox as a future threat to Wauconda Supervisor Robert Dickson, the new chairman of the county board, can look forward to a long year in office judging from the tension that accompanied his election to the office last week.

Deerfield Supervisor Emmett Moroney, who offered himself as a sacrifice to the well-organized Dickson forces, made it clear that he would be keeping a close eye on every move of the new board leader.

Dickson welcomed the presence of a "dedicated minority," but the failure of the board to make the election unanimous, a board tradition, is a sure omen of trouble ahead.

Stamp Craze Leads to Frenzied Buyer Action

Shopping is a time-consuming and costly job. But shopping for stamps is a different story. It is a time-consuming and costly job. But shopping for stamps is a different story. It is a time-consuming and costly job. But shopping for stamps is a different story.

Time was when I could take an hour or two and I never seemed to get quite enough to fill a book, and I can't say I ever bothered me. Now, I feel pretty guilty. I miss one of those coupons for 100 free stamps. And if my mind is occupied with more interesting matters, I forget to turn in this week's coupons for free stamps. Some alert housewife catches my slovenly omission and makes me feel that I'm an extravagant wastrel.

I used to be able to feel that I was doing rather well if I spotted a sale on bacon at 10¢ a pound less. Now the family menu is decided by what has free stamps with it this week.

It wouldn't be so bad if everyone gave the same kind of stamps. But of course, as far as the merchant is concerned, this would defeat the whole purpose of the stamp plan. So each housewife has numerous little books littering her desk drawers. And now, with each item purchased, one must weigh the relative merits as to price, quality and number of stamps. And it's all just too much for my little mind. I think mental institutions may soon be filled with women husily tearing coupons, counting, licking, pasting and trying to decide what to purchase with many-colored stamps.

Checking-out of a grocery store on a busy day used to get pretty hectic at times. Now it's horror in slow motion. The woman ahead of you has her groceries rung up and added. Then the tax has to be added. Then she pays the bill and gets her change. Then the clerk has to count out the number of stamps she has coming. Now she rummages through her purse for her free coupon. "Here it is—oops—no, that's for green stamps, here it is, where's that other one? I'm sure it's down here somewhere." After she's found the coupon—it's for next week, or last week, so if she's an ardent collector, she tries to get the clerk to trade it for stamps anyway. The clerk has to count out more stamps. One store, fighting fire with fire, redeems coupons for any kind of stamps. I stood in amazement one day behind a woman who dragged a sheaf of coupons from her purse, for varying stamps, and received sheafs of stamps in return. I was too gathralled to even get impatient. Or, perhaps, in the middle of the checking-out process the person ahead of you is informed by some kind person—not in the same line—that she has a brand of cookies or meat not eligible for extra stamps, while she can get 50 coupons for Brand X. Naturally, you all wait while she races back, hunts up the brand with stamps, and returns triumphant to finish checking out. Then it's your turn to start the same process. And I wonder who pays for all the time that's being used? And the mountains of bookkeeping involved? I have a feeling it's me—and you.

I watched an interview on TV last week of a man who traveled from Los Angeles to New York on stamps. He found most people delighted to accept pages of stamps for rides. Some tried to wheedle extra stamps from him. Another news item reports that a whole community chipped in books of stamps to send a woman to Rome to visit relatives.

A seemingly unrelated news item generated a revolutionary idea in my mind, which is proof of the tremendous strain the whole stamp business has put on it. This item concerned an earnest public official who sent a letter to taxpayers along with their income tax forms, exhorting them to pay the tax happily, in order to think of the glorious benefits they derive from it. A few took the trouble to acknowledge his letter, some of them advising him that while they knew they had to pay the tax, this was still a free country and they were tired of going to pay it with a tear if they chose.

How much simpler if the government would get in the swing of things and make our wounds with books of stamps. The more you pay, the more you get. I know women who would happily falsify their husbands' tax returns, paying more than necessary, if they thought they'd get thousands of stamps in return. And this could well solve the unemployment problem. People would have to be hired to print the stamps, and to make the machines to print the stamps, and to design the stamps, and to figure out just how many each taxpayer is entitled to, and count them out, and mail them, and deliver them, and investigate their returns to be sure people weren't reporting more income than they had to get more stamps. And we'd all be happy, 'cause we'd have all those lovely stamps to spend. No money, but lots of stamps.

What if this craze should extend to our professional men? Doctors could have a discreet sign saying, "1,000 green stamps with the delivery of each baby. Have your baby on the insurance company and buy his layette with our stamps." What a temptation. An exemption and extra stamps for nothing! Of course you might hesitate because the exemption would cut down your income tax, and you were courting on those extra stamps from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Another doctor might offer 1500 striped stamps with each appendectomy. Have your operation—again at the expense of your hospitalization insurance—and recuperate with a nice trip on your stamps. It would seem almost sinful not to take advantage of such an offer, even if your appendix was perfectly healthy.

Sooner or later, of course, people will start using them for gifts. How lovely to receive a book of stamps for Mother's Day instead of a potted plant! Perhaps some enterprising merchant can come out with a lacy stamp saying, "I Love You," just for Valentine's Day gifts. Or a special white one to give for bridal showers. The possibilities are endless. And rather frightening.

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with

Thomas Moran Marries While in Air Force

Airman Thomas Moran

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moran of Oakwood Knolls have announced the recent marriage of their son, Airman 2nd Class Thomas Moran to Miss Sharon Detwiler of Cooperstown, North Dakota.

Moran has been in service for close to two years where he received his high school diploma. He is, at present, stationed at an Air Force Radar Station in Finley, North Dakota.

John Boettcher Becomes Science Cruiser

A Science Cruiser is a student whose exhibit was found by the panel of Navy scientific judges to be of sufficient interest to deserve special recognition. Such an award was given John Boettcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Boettcher of Bristol, Wis., at the Marquette Science Fair last week in Milwaukee. John received this award for his Gun-microphone project.

Sometime in August, John, together with other finalists, will be escorted by naval officers and enlisted men, and will visit some of the shore activities of the navy and then will go on an actual cruise aboard Navy warships.

There they will see in full operation some of the machines and devices they have heard about or read about and they will be introduced to the great variety of scientific knowledge that goes into making the U. S. Navy the most modern fleet in the world.

On Tuesday, April 17, the Village of Antioch suffered a severe blow. The survivors of the Village Mook Election "took over the town" for the day. The officers were: President—Dave Bonner; Village Clerk—Denny "The Gun" Pogo; Chief of Police—Deryl Denman; Fire Chief—Cliff White; Treasurer—Mike Horn; Public Works—Joe "Hang It Up" Wolf; and Police Magistrate—Bob Krieger.

The appointed officers were Public Grounds—Frank Nausa; Building Commissioner—Don Verkest; and Health Officer—Judy Rosquist. On Wednesday these officers talked before the Senior Class about their experiences. Many of them looked as though the Village had gotten a free day's labor out of them. "It was a worthwhile experience," commented many of them.

Tuesday, April 10th, was election day all over the state and at Antioch High also. Students voted for class officers and Student Council Representatives and executive board.

Student Council Executive Board for 1962-63 is: President—Rick "The Rock" Prossie; Vice-President—Jane Edwards; Treasurer—Suraya Brook; Secretary—Janet Polley.

Senior Class Officers are: President—Dave Cardiff; Vice - President—Harriet Wells; Secretary—Jane Wolff; Treasurer—Mary Jane White; Representatives—Solveig Nelson, Carol Sisson, Roy Rihimaki and Don Blackman. That wonderful Spring Vacation finally arrived Wednesday.

Antioch is Defeated by Lake Forest Squad, 6-2

Antioch's baseball squad went down to defeat at the hands of Lake Forest last Tuesday evening, 6 to 2. The loss gave Antioch a record of 2-1 in conference play.

Runs did not come for Antioch until the second inning when the Sequoits racked up two. Lake Forest also made one run that inning. The Antioch runs were credited to Horn and Enis. This lead was short-lived, however, as the Lake Foresters roared back in the 5th and 6th innings to add five more runs.

Bill Ozga, who began the game, was knocked out of the pitcher's mound after only two innings with Denman relieving him to take the loss. Denman was credited with four strikeouts and Ozga with two. Denman let two men on with base on balls and Ozga allowed one. Both pitchers were a bit wild in the game, each hitting a batter with a pitched ball.

Winning pitcher for Lake Forest was Kreischer. Another game played by Antioch this week was Wednesday's game at Fox Lake against Grant.

The Sequoits also meet Elverson at Lake Zurich next Tuesday.

Racing Season Begins in May

The 1962 Lake County powerboat racing season is scheduled to begin on Sunday, May 20th. This first regatta sponsored by the Chain O' Lakes Boat Club will be the Lake County Championship Regatta and will be held at Third Lake Park located 3 miles northeast of Grayslake on Druce Lake road.

With ideal water conditions and excellent spectator and pit facilities this regatta shows indications of being one of the most successful in recent years. Enthusiasm of local businessmen, approval of residents, anxiety of participants and a growing interest in boat racing should add to the success of the event.

Seven classes of boats will be competing for honors: the SK Racing Runabout, E Racing Runabout, 150 hydro, 280 Hydro, Family Runabout, Pleasure Craft outboard Single engine and Pleasure Craft Outboard Dual Engine. A boating safety demonstration will be presented by the Waukegan Power Squadron who have worked with the Chain O' Lakes Boat Club on regattas during the 1961 season. A water ski show is being planned to add to this gala water spectacle.

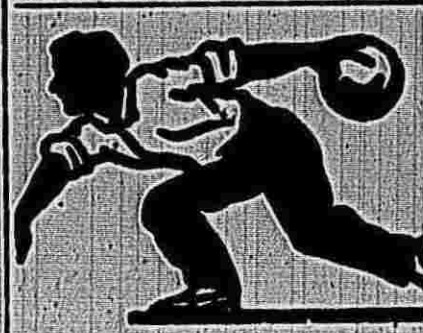

Other events leading up to the Sunday Regatta are being planned in Grayslake as part of Regatta Days. A boat show and local queen contest with Miss Illinois taking part in the crowning of the chosen queen are two of the events already scheduled. Chaparral youth groups are invited and any charitable, civic or boating organizations are encouraged to take part.

Commodore Ed Sullivan of Johnsburg has appointed George Kreissl, a member of the club and a resident of Grayslake, the Regatta Chairman. Kreissl will be working closely with Charles Stransky of Third Lake Park and the Grayslake Chamber of Commerce in making final plans and preparations for this boating event.

The regatta will be sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association of Detroit, Mich., and all events will be governed by the APBA rules and regulations.

Twelve other regattas are planned by the Chain O' Lakes Boat Club and members will be participating in additional races sponsored by other clubs throughout the midwest during the 1962 season.

Five Months of Rise in Public Assistance

Public assistance increased in February for the fifth consecutive month but at a considerably slower pace than was shown in the previous months, Peter W. Cahill, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid Commission reported last week.

The February total recipient load rose to 463,823 from January's list of 461,037 persons. In February 1961 the rolls held 427,618 persons. Over-all February costs came to $24,904,486, of which the federal government paid $9,747,371. In January the cost was $24,593,091. In February 1961 the cost was $20,638,563.

General Assistance fell to 110,891, reflecting a drop of 19,751 persons from the January total of 130,642 persons and 63,146 from the February 1961 load of 174,037 recipients. This drop was primarily due to transfers to federally aided programs. February costs dropped to $5,251,752 for an average of $47.36 a recipient from January's costs of $6,021,165—average $46.09. In February 1961 the cost was $6,098,333—average $40.21.

Old Age Assistance rolls fell to 67,849 persons in February and to a cost of $5,576,390—average $82.43 per person, from the January cost of $5,815,074 for 68,005 persons—average $82.57. In February 1961 the cost was $5,553,161 for 71,135 persons—average $78.07.

The unemployed parent section of the Aid to Dependent Children program increased by 12,474 persons to a total of 52,992 while the regular program increased by 8,694 persons bringing the combined February load to 258,562 persons. January's count was 237,394 persons, while the February 1961 rolls held 160,251 persons.

February's cost of $11,456,683 included $2,167,802 expended for unemployed families. The combined average of the two segments of the program came to $44.31. In January the cost of the two segments combined was $10,558,480—average $44.48. In February 1961, before the federal and state legislation permitting aid to be extended to children of unemployed parents was enacted, the cost was $6,348,234—average $39.61, a total of 5.6% of all children in Illinois under 18 years of age were aided by this program.

Blind assistance continued its decline, dropping to a low of 2,871 from the January list of 2,895 persons and the February 1961 count of 2,963 recipients. February's cost of $259,949—average of $90.54 compares with January's cost of $262,235—average $90.82, and with the February 1961 cost of $285,055—average $86.06 per recipient.

Disability Assistance of 24,336 persons in February represents an increase by 1,927

Blumberg Memorial Blood Bank Upped

Membership in the Jacob Blumberg Memorial Blood Bank of the Lake County Society now stands at 9,335 Lake County residents, according to Dr. John F. Freeland, president of the organization.

A year-long membership effort brought 1,322 families under the protection of the blood bank to bring the roster to the highest point in its 12-year history, Dr. Freeland said.

"While we are pleased that so many new families have taken advantage of blood bank membership, we would like to see the coverage extended to every family in Lake County," the president asserted.

The blood bank was established in 1950 by the Lake County Medical Society in cooperation with the family of Jacob Blumberg, pioneer Waukegan merchant, to provide a ready supply of free, whole blood for emergencies.

Membership is open to all Lake County residents by simply mailing an application blank available in most drug stores, hospitals, and doctor's offices to the Jacob Blumberg Bank, 1350 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan.

There is no charge for membership which covers the whole family, but there is a $10 per unit processing charge when blood is used. Virtually an unlimited supply of blood is available for members whose only obligation is to donate one unit of blood approximately every three to four years, Dr. Freeland pointed out.

On Saturday I went to Walkegan. We were having a brownie play there. All the brownies and girl scouts had to sing songs. One of the songs was both verses of the Star-Spangled Banner. We had to sing other songs too. I came home with Mr. Nelson. We saw the Easter rabbit at Foy's toys and gifts.

Then we came to the scout house. My mother was waiting for me. We went up town and got something. I got a sticker fun book. And my sister got one too. My big sister got a book. Then my mother went to tell my father she was going to take the car. Then we came home. My sister and I went outside to play baseball. When it was time for me to bat, I hit my finger. I went in the house and told my mother. She said I hope it is not sprained. Then she looked at my finger. Run it in some cold water. So I did. I sat down and played with my sticker fun book. And the pain went away.

And she got better, but now there is still a little blud on her nose. Now she is playing ball with me.

COLUMN IDEAS

"Here are some ideas, if you're looking for something to argue about: There are 151 separate taxes on a loaf of bread... Wages paid Russian workers in 1959-60 averaged about $80 a month... There are about 10,000 small town newspapers across the country, and they get into over 27 million homes... When Social Security was instituted in the early 1930's a cent was taken from each dollar of pay for the program... The Tuberculosis Association points out that more than nine million lives have been saved since the first Christmas Seal was sold... and George T. Wilkins, Illinois superintendent of public instruction says: 'We must give study to further reorganization of our school system so that a good program through the 14th year is available to youth throughout the state'."—Newman Independent.

Lindenhurst News

By Mrs. Bernice Bernau
Elliot 6-3449

Birthday
Little Wendy Smith celebrated her fourth birthday April 10, by having just what she wanted for supper. Of course, steak was the main dish. No birthday cake for her. It had to be brownies. Her brother, Steven, sang "Happy Birthday" to her in Spanish. Mrs. Davis, his kindergarten teacher at Hooper School, is giving them lessons in Spanish.

Wendy and her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, had lunch that afternoon at Blanch's Parkside Restaurant in Kenosha, with about twenty ladies belonging to the Royal Neighbors.

Women's Club
Thirty-nine ladies attended the Gas Company's Cooking School at the Lindenhurst Women's Club meeting last Thursday evening. A beautiful stainless steel refrigerator was on display. Cooking was done on a modern gas range. Bernice Frontzak went home with a roast beef dinner, Lu Stanley, 4 beef patties and a vegetable, Nancy Klaffner a pie, Marion Rejoison, rotisseried spareribs, Dorothy Thompson a molded salad and Rosemary Bukas a set of salt and pepper shakers.

September 15 is the tentative date for the annual rummage sale. On the committee are Mesdames Dorothy Verdick, Zenia Neumann, Helen Guzski, Esther Sokup and Mary Tracy.

The theme for the annual September dinner-dance will be the "Roaring Twenties." (Here's a good idea—attend the rummage sales coming up, and you may be able to pick up your outfit.) The date will be September 28.

The Women's Club will have the popcorn and lemonade stand at the Block Party June 22 through 24 again this year.

The Civic Center will be closed on Saturday nights during April. Not enough people have been attending. The Center may begin again in May.

The membership committee is planning to play favorite games at their May meeting. All prospective members will be invited to attend. Evelyn Lazansky or Millie Caldwell will be happy to accept donations for the card party coming up on May 8.

Junior Police
Parents are invited to attend the Junior Police meeting Tuesday night at the B. J. Hooper School on Sand Lake Road starting at 7 p.m. Police Chief Anthony Schmeig of Highland Park will give a Judo demonstration.

Little League
Ray Farpan called a meeting last Thursday evening in order to obtain managers, coaches and umpires for the 1962 Little League. Approximately 25 adults showed up. Ray was quite disappointed at the small turnout. Perhaps the reason so few attended was because the Black Hawks were playing and they didn't want to miss it. The fellows who did attend the meeting would have liked to have seen the game too, but they put their sons first.

There will be a pancake breakfast in the near future, at the Lindenhurst Civic Center to raise funds for the Little League. Registration will also be held that morning. More details later.

The league needs two managers. Ed Bonovitz will manage the Dodgers, Bob Spiegel the Yankees, Ray the Braves and Pete Peterson any team. Coaches and umpires are needed. Umpires will be given all the help they need, such as rule books, etc. They also are paid for every game they umpire, if requested.

If you can help in any way will you please call Ray at Elliot 6-3017?

THE LAW

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF
ANTIOCH NEWS SERVICE

ZONING

The law with respect to zoning, unlike many other fields of the law, is of rather recent origin. The first zoning statute in Illinois was enacted only 40 years ago. Notwithstanding this fact, in most municipalities, and many counties, now have zoning ordinances.

These ordinances restrict the use to which real estate may be put, such as, residential, agricultural, commercial, light industrial, heavy industrial and so forth. They also generally restrict the type and height of buildings that may be erected and the space that they may occupy.

Adoption of Zoning Ordinance

In municipalities that wish to adopt zoning regulations a zoning commission is appointed. This commission prepares a proposed zoning ordinance and, after giving public notice, holds a hearing at which those in the community who are interested may appear and be heard. Following this hearing the commission makes a report to the city council or village board, which then considers the adoption of the ordinance.

The ordinance that is adopted may not deprive a property owner of the use of such property for any purpose to which it is being lawfully put at the time the ordinance is adopted.

Enforcement

The ordinance must designate an officer who will be responsible for enforcing it. Decisions of this officer are subject to appeal to a board of appeals, which is appointed by the city council or village board. Decisions of the board of appeals may, in turn, be appealed to the circuit court.

A municipality may exercise its zoning powers in contiguous territory not more than 1 1/2 miles from the city limits if the territory is not in another municipality or the county has not adopted a county zoning plan.

The ordinance customarily provides for penalties for violation of its provisions. In addition, the city or village or any property owner or tenant in the same area may bring suit to enforce violations of the ordinance.

Variations

In instances in which enforcement of the ordinance would involve practical difficulties or particular hardship the city council or village board, in some cases, and the board of appeals in others, may grant a "variation"; that is, waive the application of the ordinance in the particular case.

Before doing so, however, there must be a public hearing at which the party seeking the variation produces evidence that the property cannot yield a reasonable return if the ordinance is applied to it, that the plight of the owner is due to unique circumstances and that, if the variation is granted, the essential character of the neighborhood will not be altered.

If the owner of property does obtain a variation it is personal to him and if he subsequently transfers the property to someone else the permission for variation ceases.

Rezoning

The zoning ordinance adopted by a municipality may be amended by the city council or village board. Before such an amendment is adopted, however, there must be a hearing before a commission or committee appointed by the city council or village board—usually the board of appeals—which makes a recommendation to the council or board.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS

If the owners of 20% or more of the property directly affected by a proposed zoning change file a written protest, the change can only be adopted by a 2/3 vote.

Zoning Map

Since March 31, 1960, municipalities having zoning regulations must now annually publish an official zoning map showing all existing zoning uses, divisions, restrictions, regulations and classifications. Copies may be obtained for $5.00 from the city.

County Zoning

The law with respect to county zoning is substantially the same as the law with respect to municipal zoning, with the county board exercising the functions exercised by the city council or village board in municipalities.

THE LANDLORD AND THE LIEN

Mr. Graham was Mrs. Jones' favorite tenant, and his popularity increased when she learned he was going to redecorate his apartment at his own cost. None of Mrs. Jones' other tenants had ever volunteered to do this. True to his word, Graham had workmen come in to remove an old partition, install new light fixtures, refit the bath, lay new linoleum in the kitchen, and completely repaint the apartment. Mrs. Jones was beaming throughout the entire transaction.

About six weeks after the work was completed, Graham told Mrs. Jones he had been transferred to another city and would have to leave in a week. Because he had been such a model tenant, Mrs. Jones immediately released him from his lease.

Tenant Can Create Lien

Several weeks after Graham left, a variety of workmen began to call on Mrs. Jones, requesting payment for the work done to Graham's apartment. "These are not my bills," protested Mrs. Jones, "they're Mr. Graham's and I thought he had paid them. Anyway, his lease provides I do not have to pay this type of bills."

Upon consulting her attorney, Mrs. Jones was dismayed to learn that under Illinois law the workmen had liens against her building for the cost of their improvements, even though Graham's lease stated that his debts were not to create liens.

Mrs. Jones discovered that a lien may arise against the landlord's property when a tenant has improvements made in his apartment with the landlord's consent regardless of the terms of the lease. However, if Mrs. Jones had not known of the work being done, Illinois law protects her and no lien arises.

Precautions for Landlords
There are certain steps Mrs. Jones can take to protect herself against liens caused by tenants. For example, she can refuse to permit the work to be done unless money for payment is first deposited with her. Or she can refuse unless each workman gives her a written waiver of lien before he begins work.

This column is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the results under the law. (The names used in this series are fictitious.)
